Organizing the event

Due to the epidemic situation, we organized the event online. We primarily contacted the organizations and individuals who participated in the testing, but we also sent the invitation to the NGOs operating in Hódmezővásárhely and Szeged.

After the online registration, we notified the applicants by e-mail about the exact date and contact details of the event (link).

The online event was attended by 45, representing the 11 organization.

The presentations were compiled using the documents available on the project website, the training experiences and the testing results.

Evaluation of the event

Participants represented organizations with different profiles and different goals.

After the presentation of the results, a lively discussion developed based on the comments of the participants.

Volunteering Management Expedition (VolExpo)
Erasmus+ KA2 – 2019-1-FI01-KA204-060735

- The commenters found the event useful. The project results and the educational tools presented were inspiring to them.
- The study materials available in Hungarian can be used directly. They would consider it important to translate even more English documents, because not everyone has the level of English language skills to be able to master the methods in sufficient depth.
- The participants found the experience of the training useful and they think that in this way we could organize training for them based on the study materials collected by the project.
- The report on the results of the testing also confirmed the participants' intention to study the evaluated tools and additional materials in the Toolbox.
- The participants were provided with the contact details of the studies available in Hungarian (<http://www.volexpo.eu/toolbox/IO4/HU/IO1.pdf> and <http://www.volexpo.eu/toolbox/IO4/HU/IO2.pdf>), and the contact details of the project's website (<http://www.volexpo.eu>), and Facebook page (<https://www.facebook.com/VolExpo/>). At the same time, we asked them to boldly apply and promote the educational materials available on these platforms.
- We drew attention to the website of the Knowledge Foundation (Tudás Alapítvány) (<https://tudasalapitvany.hu/projektek/volexpo/>). We also asked them to share their experiences, results, possible suggestions with us and send us feedback!
- In conclusion, we can say that the participants of the information event found the objectives and results of the project useful, and they want to apply these in their own work.
